GIVE AND RECEIVE CONSTRUCTIVE FEEDBACK

Feedback that motivates and supports

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

This one-day workshop highlights the importance of building a culture where all staff are comfortable in giving and receiving feedback within a climate of mutual respect and trust. You will focus on the importance of reflection, goal setting and the use of multiple sources of evidence in coming to reliable and valid judgments.

By participating in this workshop you will:

- engage with research about the power of valuable feedback
- sharpen your aptitude to have challenging conversations in relation to an individual’s performance
- acquire a set of techniques and strategies to secure individual accountability within a high performing learning culture
- plan for a school wide approach to embedding effective feedback.

You will also be challenged to consider how school culture and whole-school systems, policies and processes mitigate the risk of under-performance, thereby reducing the incidence of high-stress scenarios.

Whilst the focus of this workshop is on quality teaching, the course content is directly applicable to supporting staff members in non-teaching roles, including support staff, business managers, and education support staff.

FURTHER INFORMATION

Give and Receive Constructive Feedback is part of a professional practice series focusing on Performance & Development.

For information on other Bastow professional practice and events please visit: www.bastow.vic.edu.au

Regional delivery:
This professional practice series can be delivered to your network in a regional location.

To discuss your interest for delivery of this workshop or other Bastow leadership development please contact:
Lisa Black, Manager Regional Partnerships via:
ph: 8199 2947
e: lisa.black@bastow.vic.edu.au

PARTNER ORGANISATIONS

Bastow has partnered with Cambridge Education and Coach in a Box to deliver this workshop.

Cost:
Vic Government School $295 pp (incl GST)
Non-Government School $395 pp (incl GST)